Comment 1

Hello,

My name is Khang Ngo, and I am currently a Sophomore in high school. As a student, I want to make sure that ALL students get quality instructional material.

My comment (and review) is particularly focused on the "human impacts to climate change" aspect, as that was an addition to the TEKS that the SBOE made. After reviewing the material in question, I would recommend that the State Board approve the use of this program, at least in terms of its instructional material on climate change. Upon reviewing the instructional material that this program has on "Human Impacts on Climate Change," I am happy to say that I am satisfied. Specifically, in the "Teacher Background" section, it states that after the 1700s, "human activity has contributed substantially [to climate change] by adding carbon dioxide and other gases." It goes on to say that "we can mitigate the global warming trend by significantly reducing our use of fossil fuels." Plus, it teaches about things like the "greenhouse gas effect" and how we contributed to it. When we educate kids and students on climate change and the undeniable impact that humans have had on it, it is necessary to emphasize our impact on it, and how we can prevent it.

Further, it is important to teach about things like the greenhouse gas effect, and the ways that humans (and the burning of fossil fuels) have contributed to that. I am satisfied to find that all of these topics are included in this instructional material. Students deserve to know about climate change, and it is imperative that we teach them about such things. When we hide the truth from students, we are making the problem worse. We are currently seeing firsthand the impacts of climate change because Texas is currently going through one of its hottest summers on record. That's why it's important that we teach them about things like this.

Therefore, State Board members, I would ask that you approve the use of this program, at least to teach about human impacts on climate change. Students using this textbook/program will be more prepared and will be more knowledgeable about climate change and its impacts. Thank you.

The Big Bang Theory (BBT) is the Faith and Belief of the Atheistic Religious School of Thought, and teaching BBT under the guise of science is a serious constitutional violation.

Atheism is a major world religious school of thought and hence BBT must be taught under Major World Religions in Social Studies, and not in a science class!

Publisher Response: Reject

Comment 3

The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!.

The "origin of life" (OOL) is best described as the chemical and physical processes that brought into existence the first self-replicating molecule. OOL theories must create the first life using only the laws of chemistry and physics, and cannot rely upon natural selection. Natural Selection is the process through which populations of living organisms adapt and change and is not applicable since there is no reproduction before the first life.

Atheism is a religion with faith and hope that science someday will have the answers to the origins of the Universe and Life around us, and US Supreme Court in the Torcaso v. Watkins (1961) agree. The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!

Atheists have a constitutional right to practice their religion of Atheism, however, the teaching of their faith and beliefs on, (1) Origin of the Universe (2) Origin of Life and subsequent Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, CRT par excellence, under the guise of Science in a public school science class is unacceptable.

The major religious schools of philosophical thought can be uniquely classified into three distinct mutually exclusive classes – Monotheism, Monism and Atheism. There are others like Polytheism which is founded on Monism, and Agnosticism which focusses only on ethical living in this life. These philosophical thoughts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. In Texas, our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student's constitutional right; however, this violation can be remedied by restructuring the teaching these TEKS of the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism in our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

Origin of Life

The "origin of life" (OOL) is best described as the chemical and physical processes that brought into existence the first self-replicating molecule. OOL theories must create the first life using only the laws of chemistry and physics, and cannot rely upon natural selection. Natural Selection is the process through which populations of living organisms adapt and change and is not applicable since there is no reproduction before the first life. Any hypothesis on the Origin of Life first requires a Universe.

Science is unable to prove the Origin of the Universe, and what is taught is theories with conflicting views. With this science to conclude,

The Big Bang model envisions all energy and matter in the universe as having initially been concentrated in an extremely hot, dense singularity much smaller than an atom, or as stated by some, smaller than a proton.

So is the teaching Scientific Facts on the Origin of the Universe, or mere Hypotheses which are the Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism? There is nothing in the textbooks that even hypothesizes how the singularity came into existence! The First Law of Thermodynamics explicitly states that energy cannot be created or destroyed!

The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!

I therefore conclude that what is taught under the guise of science is the Statement of Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism, unless one can provide a scientific proof for the “singularity” at essentially infinite density and temperature as taught in our science courses.

All these concepts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. Our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student’s constitutional right! So, correct this violation by restructuring the teaching of these TEKS by moving the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism to our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

Evolution, the Science of Racism

Darwin published the Descent of Man in 1871, and he placed human origins in Africa, and agreed with Huxley, “that man in all parts of his organization differs less from the higher apes, than these do from the lower members of the same group”. Darwin considered every population that is not white and European to be a savage, and “Apes are much given to imitation, as are the lowest savages”.

Darwin writes, With savages, the weak in body or mind are soon eliminated; and those that survive commonly exhibit a vigorous state of health. We civilized men, on the other hand, do our utmost to check the process of elimination; we build asylums for the imbecile, the maimed, and the sick; we institute poor-laws; and our medical men exert their utmost skill to save the life of every one to the last moment. There is reason to believe that vaccination has preserved thousands, who from a weak constitution would formerly have succumbed to small-pox. Thus the weak members of civilized societies propagate their kind. No one who has attended to the breeding of domestic animals will doubt that this must be highly injurious to the race of man. It is surprising how soon a want of care, or care wrongly directed, leads to the degeneration of a domestic race; but excepting in the case of man himself, hardly any one is so ignorant as to allow his worst animals to breed.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 168

Darwin was pleased that society has placed a check on miscegenation. He writes,

Hence we must bear without complaining the undoubtedly bad effects of the weak surviving and propagating their kind; but there appears to be at least one check in steady action, namely the weaker and inferior members of society not marrying so freely as the sound; and this check might be indefinitely increased, though this is more to be hoped for than expected, by the weak in body or mind refraining from marriage.

Remember the Jim Crow miscegenation laws! Darwin then hopes,

At some future period, not very distant as measured by centuries, the civilized races of man will almost certainly exterminate and replace throughout the world the savage races. At the same time the anthropomorphous apes, as Professor Schaaffhausen has remarked, will no doubt be exterminated. The break will then, be rendered wider, for it will intervene between man in a more civilized state, as we may hope, than the Caucasian, and some ape as low as a baboon, instead of as at present between the negro or Australian and the gorilla.

Thus, Evolution is the “Science” of Racism, showing the superiority of the Caucasian race!

In the Supreme Court decision of Dred Scott v Sanford, 1856, Chief Justice Roger B. Taney delivering the opinion of the court stated, "They had for more than a century before been regarded as beings of an inferior order, and altogether unfit to associate with the white race, either in social or political relations; and so far inferior, that they had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; and that the negro might justly and lawfully be reduced to slavery for his benefit."

It is important to understand that the world was agnostic to one's skin color!

In the 1600s most Europeans lived on farms or small rural communities, and their economy was nothing compared to the affluence of the lands of India and China populated by people of color! Voltaire (1694–1778), a French writer, said,

"I am convinced that everything has come down to us from the banks of the Ganges, astronomy, astrology, metempsychosis, etc. It does not behoove us, who were only savages and barbarians when these Indians and Chinese peoples were civilized and learned, to dispute their antiquity".

So, for a Caucasian, a group of people having European ancestry classified with a light skin pigmentation, to think he/she was superior because of their skin color would be ridiculous! This is why Shakespeare in the early 1600s, wrote Othello where a person of color marries a white woman! Voltaire's statement is affirmed by Angus Madison, a world scholar on quantitative macroeconomic history.

The British landed in India in the early 1600s for the purpose of trade. Seeing the disunity and divisions in the land of India, they deceitfully used the conflicts to destroy opposition and use any means to gain control. The disingenuous nature of the British Empire is well evidenced in our history.

Evidence show the Indian Caste System was developed in India in the Rajput era (from about the 7th to 12th c AD). The law book of the caste system, Varnashrama Dharma or Manu Dharma was driven by one's skin color, varna, since the Rajputs were relatively light skinned. In reality they were a group of weak fiefdoms, living in isolation from the rest of the world, but, proud of themselves defining themselves as the Aryan (noble) race as outlined in Manu Dharma. The Rajputs subsequently fell victims to the Maratha confederacy, and Manu Dharma was sidelined. The Marathas were then defeated by the British, and the Rajputs accepted British suzerainty leading to an era of collaboration. The Rajputs during this era of collaboration revived Manu Dharma as their law of governance, and convinced the British of a common ancestry! A.A. McDonnell in his book titled 'India's Past' writes, "These two civilizations, starting from a common source, have after a separation of at least 3,000 years again become united".

William Jones, a jurist and linguist, studied Manu Dharma which was being used by the Rajputs to govern under the suzerainty of the British. He then started publishing his translation of Manu Dharma which was in Sanskrit into English in 1794. Through the translation of William Jones, the disingenuous concept of an Aryan race and Racism based on one's skin color entered the world society, catalyzed by the rise of affluence in the Western Nations dominated by Caucasians, and perverted the minds of men like Darwin and Adolf Hitler. This fallacy of the Aryan race was exposed with the discovery of the Indus Valley in 1920, however, much of erroneous world history of the east is yet to be rewritten.

Racism based on one's skin color is a social poison, and we must all strive to bring the world society back to being agnostic to one's skin color. The founding fathers of our nation were very clear that,

They believed in a Creator, God who, Created all of mankind equal, and Endowed them with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

This is evidenced in the Declaration of Independence.

When William Jones translated Manu Dharma to English, the racist poison of the Indian Caste system based on one's skin color, spread into the British Empire, catalyzing Charles Darwin, a Britisher, to develop the "science" behind Manu Dharma. Sadly later, Darwin's theory influenced Margaret Sanger, who promoted "eugenics" and "forced sterilization" to eliminate inferior races. Sanger began a "Negro Project" in 1939 to reduce the African-American population. Her racist views are seen in her statement, "The lower down in the scale of human development we go the less sexual control we find. It is said the aboriginal Australian, the lowest known species of the human family, just a step higher than the chimpanzee in brain development."

Darwin's Evolution is Critical Race Theory (CRT) at its best!

The racist roots of Evolution must be exposed since the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism has spawned dangerous social effects – Nazism, Eugenics, Biased Supreme Court Case, Miscegenation Laws, etc., and must also be taught under Social Studies. These have deviated America from the faith of our Founding Fathers as seen in the Declaration of Independence.

Biozone p. 191 Divergent evolution should be taught in the context of genetic variation of a species with the understanding that the species did not completely change into something else. Convergent evolution is a theory with little research. Each species is made uniquely but their similarities do not necessarily mean they come from similar source. Gene variation is variation within species and not evolution. This concept can be discussed without mentioning evolution.

William Jones, a jurist and linguist, studied Manu Dharma which was being used by the Rajputs to govern under the suzerainty of the British. He then started publishing his translation of Manu Dharma which was in Sanskrit into English in 1794. Through the translation of William Jones, the disingenuous concept of an Aryan race and Racism based on one's skin color entered the world society, catalyzed by the rise of affluence in the Western Nations dominated by Caucasians, and perverted the minds of men like Darwin and Adolf Hitler. This fallacy of the Aryan race was exposed with the discovery of the Indus Valley in 1920, however, much of erroneous world history of the east is yet to be rewritten.

Racism based on one's skin color is a social poison, and we must all strive to bring the world society back to being agnostic to one's skin color. The founding fathers of our nation were very clear that,

- They believed in a Creator, God who,
- Created all of mankind equal, and
- Endowed them with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

This is evidenced in the Declaration of Independence.

When William Jones translated Manu Dharma to English, the racist poison of the Indian Caste system based on one's skin color, spread into the British Empire, catalyzing Charles Darwin, a Britisher, to develop the "science" behind Manu Dharma. Sadly later, Darwin's theory influenced Margaret Sanger, who promoted "eugenics" and "forced sterilization" to eliminate inferior races. Sanger began a "Negro Project" in 1939 to reduce the African-American population. Her racist views are seen in her statement, "The lower down in the scale of human development we go the less sexual control we find. It is said the aboriginal Australian, the lowest known species of the human family, just a step higher than the chimpanzee in brain development."

Evolution is Critical Race Theory (CRT) at its best!

The racist roots of Evolution must be exposed since the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism has spawned dangerous social effects – Nazism, Eugenics, Biased Supreme Court Case, Miscegenation Laws, etc., and must also be taught under Social Studies. These have deviated America from the faith of our Founding Fathers as seen in the Declaration of Independence.

The Big Bang Theory

Science is unable to prove the Origin of the Universe, and what is taught is theories with conflicting views. With this science to conclude,

The Big Bang model envisions all energy and matter in the universe as having initially been concentrated in an extremely hot, dense singularity much smaller than an atom, or as stated by some, smaller than a proton.

So is the teaching Scientific Facts on the Origin of the Universe, or mere Hypotheses which are the Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism? There is nothing in the textbooks that even hypothesizes how the singularity came into existence! The First Law of Thermodynamics explicitly states that energy cannot be created or destroyed!

The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!

I therefore conclude that what is taught under the guise of science is the Statement of Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism, unless CISD can provide a scientific proof for the "singularity" at essentially infinite density and temperature as taught in our science courses.

All these concepts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. Our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student's constitutional right! So, I urge CISD to correct this violation by restructuring the teaching of these TEKS by moving the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism to our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

Evolution, the Science of Racism

Darwin published the Descent of Man in 1871, and he placed human origins in Africa, and agreed with Huxley, "that man in all parts of his organization differs less from the higher apes, than these do from the lower members of the same group". Darwin considered every population that is not white and European to be a savage, and "Apes are much given to imitation, as are the lowest savages".

Darwin writes,

With savages, the weak in body or mind are soon eliminated; and those that survive commonly exhibit a vigorous state of health. We civilized men, on the other hand, do our utmost to check the process of elimination; we build asylums for the imbecile, the maimed, and the sick; we institute poor-laws; and our medical men exert their utmost skill to save the life of every one to the last moment. There is reason to believe that vaccination has preserved thousands, who from a weak constitution would formerly have succumbed to small-pox. Thus the weak members of civilized societies propagate their kind. No one who has attended to the breeding of domestic animals will doubt that this must be highly injurious to the race of man. It is surprising how soon a want of care, or care wrongly directed, leads to the degeneration of a domestic race; but excepting in the case of man himself, hardly any one is so ignorant as to allow his worst animals to breed.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 168

Darwin was pleased that society has placed a check on miscegenation. He writes, Hence we must bear without complaining the undoubtedly bad effects of the weak surviving and propagating their kind; but there appears to be at least one check in steady action, namely the weaker and inferior members of society not marrying so freely as the sound; and this check might be indefinitely increased, though this is more to be hoped for than expected, by the weak in body or mind refraining from marriage.

Remember the Jim Crow miscegenation laws! Darwin then hopes, at some future period, not very distant as measured by centuries, the civilized races of man will almost certainly exterminate and replace throughout the world the savage races. At the same time the anthropomorphous apes, as Professor Schaaffhausen has remarked, will no doubt be exterminated. The break will then, be rendered wider, for it will intervene between man in a more civilized state, as we may hope, than the Caucasian, and some ape as low as a baboon, instead of as at present between the negro or Australian and the gorilla.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 201

Thus, Evolution is the "Science" of Racism, showing the superiority of the Caucasian race!

In the Supreme Court decision of Dred Scott v Sanford, 1856, Chief Justice Roger B. Taney delivering the opinion of the court stated,

"They had for more than a century before been regarded as beings of an inferior order, and altogether unfit to associate with the white race, either in social or political relations; and so far inferior, that they had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; and that the negro might justly and lawfully be reduced to slavery for his benefit."

It is important to understand that the world was agnostic to one's skin color!

In the 1600s most Europeans lived on farms or small rural communities, and their economy was nothing compared to the affluence of the lands of India and China populated by people of color! Voltaire (1694–1778), a French writer, said,

"I am convinced that everything has come down to us from the banks of the Ganges, astronomy, astrology, metempsychosis, etc. It does not behoove us, who were only savages and barbarians when these Indians and Chinese peoples were civilized and learned, to dispute their antiquity".

So, for a Caucasian, a group of people having European ancestry classified with a light skin pigmentation, to think he/she was superior because of their skin color would be ridiculous! This is why Shakespeare in the early 1600s, wrote Othello where a person of color marries a white woman! Voltaire's statement is affirmed by Angus Madison, a world scholar on quantitative macroeconomic history.

The British landed in India in the early 1600s for the purpose of trade. Seeing the disunity and divisions in the land of India, they deceitfully used the conflicts to destroy opposition and use any means to gain control. The disingenuous nature of the British Empire is well evidenced in our history.

Evidence show the Indian Caste System was developed in India in the Rajput era (from about the 7th to 12th c AD). The law book of the caste system, Varnashrama Dharma or Manu Dharma was driven by one's skin color, varna, since the Rajputs were relatively light skinned. In reality they were a group of weak fiefdoms, living in isolation from the rest of the world, but, proud of themselves defining themselves as the Aryan (noble) race as outlined in Manu Dharma. The Rajputs subsequently fell victims to the Maratha confederacy, and Manu Dharma was sidelined. The Marathas were then defeated by the British, and the Rajputs accepted British suzerainty leading to an era of collaboration. The Rajputs during this era of collaboration revived Manu Dharma as their law of governance, and convinced the British of a common ancestry! A.A. McDonnell in his book titled 'India's Past' writes, "These two civilizations, starting from a common source, have after a separation of at least 3,000 years again become united".

William Jones, a jurist and linguist, studied Manu Dharma which was being used by the Rajputs to govern under the suzerainty of the British. Environmental Science is an interdisciplinary study of how Earth works, how humans interact with Earth, and how people address environmental problems and challenges. The scientific evidence of climate change is irrefutable. According to a recent statement from the United Nations, “climate change is the defining issue of our time” (qtd. in Bearer, C.F., Molloy, E.J., Tessema, M.T. et al. Global climate change: the defining issue of our time for our children’s health. Pediatr Res (2022)). Its effects on ecosystem services, economies, and human health are universal and will persist for many years to come; therefore, climate change is an important and necessary component of Environmental Science subject matter, and that is why it is treated in several chapters of Environmental Science: Sustaining Your World.

Location: My comments are concerning every component in the First and Second Units. These products never use the words "woman, girl, or female" when talking about who can become or is pregnant. They refer to the "child bearer" as an individual. This is unbelievable.....everyone can see what is trying to be done here.....discount the woman since anyone who thinks they are a woman can get pregnant. This is madness and is not biologically correct.

The choice of language was carefully selected to ensure inclusivity and respect for diverse experiences and identities while not discounting the biological realities of pregnancy. In our development of instructional materials, we strive to adhere to the language presented in the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills (TEKS) to ensure our alignment with and adherence to state standards. The TEKS for the Child Development course refrain from gender-specific terminology when addressing topics like pregnancy. The term "individual" was chosen with the guidance of well-regarded organizations, including the American College of Obstetricians & Gynecologists, CDC, FDA, Department of Health Care Finance, Substance Use & Mental Health Services Administration, and the U.S. Department of Labor. It is important to note that this choice does not negate the recognized biological distinctions between men and women.

Science is unable to prove the Origin of the Universe, and what is taught is theories with conflicting views. With this science to conclude,

The Big Bang model envisions all energy and matter in the universe as having initially been concentrated in an extremely hot, dense singularity much smaller than an atom, or as stated by some, smaller than a proton.

So is the teaching Scientific Facts on the Origin of the Universe, or mere Hypotheses which are the Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism? There is nothing in the textbooks that even hypothesizes how the singularity came into existence! The First Law of Thermodynamics explicitly states that energy cannot be created or destroyed!

The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!

I therefore conclude that what is taught under the guise of science is the Statement of Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism, unless CISD can provide a scientific proof for the “singularity” at essentially infinite density and temperature as taught in our science courses.

All these concepts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. Our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student’s constitutional right! So, I urge CISD to correct this violation by restructuring the teaching of these TEKS by moving the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism to our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

Origin of Life

The "origin of life" (OOL) is best described as the chemical and physical processes that brought into existence the first self-replicating molecule. OOL theories must create the first life using only the laws of chemistry and physics, and cannot rely upon natural selection. Natural Selection is the process through which populations of living organisms adapt and change and is not applicable since there is no reproduction before the first life. Any hypothesis on the Origin of Life first requires a Universe.

Evolution, the Science of Racism

Darwin published the Descent of Man in 1871, and he placed human origins in Africa, and agreed with Huxley, "that man in all parts of his organization differs less from the higher apes, than these do from the lower members of the same group". Darwin considered every population that is not white and European to be a savage, and "Apes are much given to imitation, as are the lowest savages".

Darwin writes,

With savages, the weak in body or mind are soon eliminated; and those that survive commonly exhibit a vigorous state of health. We civilized men, on the other hand, do our utmost to check the process of elimination; we build asylums for the imbecile, the maimed, and the sick; we institute poor-laws; and our medical men exert their utmost skill to save the life of every one to the last moment. There is reason to believe that vaccination has preserved thousands, who from a weak constitution would formerly have succumbed to small-pox. Thus the weak members of civilized societies propagate their kind. No one who has attended to the breeding of domestic animals will doubt that this must be highly injurious to the race of man. It is surprising how soon a want of care, or care wrongly directed, leads to the degeneration of a domestic race; but excepting in the case of man himself, hardly any one is so ignorant as to allow his worst animals to breed.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 168

Darwin was pleased that society has placed a check on miscegenation. He writes, Hence we must bear without complaining the undoubtedly bad effects of the weak surviving and propagating their kind; but there appears to be at least one check in steady action, namely the weaker and inferior members of society not marrying so freely as the sound; and this check might be indefinitely increased, though this is more to be hoped for than expected, by the weak in body or mind refraining from marriage.

Remember the Jim Crow miscegenation laws! Darwin then hopes, at some future period, not very distant as measured by centuries, the civilized races of man will almost certainly exterminate and replace throughout the world the savage races. At the same time the anthropomorphous apes, as Professor Schaaffhausen has remarked, will no doubt be exterminated. The break will then, be rendered wider, for it will intervene between man in a more civilized state, as we may hope, than the Caucasian, and some ape as low as a baboon, instead of as at present between the negro or Australian and the gorilla.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 201

Thus, Evolution is the "Science" of Racism, showing the superiority of the Caucasian race!

In the Supreme Court decision of Dred Scott v Sanford, 1856, Chief Justice Roger B. Taney delivering the opinion of the court stated,

"They had for more than a century before been regarded as beings of an inferior order, and altogether unfit to associate with the white race, either in social or political relations; and so far inferior, that they had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; and that the negro might justly and lawfully be reduced to slavery for his benefit."

It is important to understand that the world was agnostic to one's skin color!

In the 1600s most Europeans lived on farms or small rural communities, and their economy was nothing compared to the affluence of the lands of India and China populated by people of color! Voltaire (1694–1778), a French writer, said,

"I am convinced that everything has come down to us from the banks of the Ganges, astronomy, astrology, metempsychosis, etc. It does not behoove us, who were only savages and barbarians when these Indians and Chinese peoples were civilized and learned, to dispute their antiquity".

So, for a Caucasian, a group of people having European ancestry classified with a light skin pigmentation, to think he/she was superior because of their skin color would be ridiculous! This is why Shakespeare in the early 1600s, wrote Othello where a person of color marries a white woman! Voltaire's statement is affirmed by Angus Madison, a world scholar on quantitative macroeconomic history.

The British landed in India in the early 1600s for the purpose of trade. Seeing the disunity and divisions in the land of India, they deceitfully used the conflicts to destroy opposition and use any means to gain control. The disingenuous nature of the British Empire is well evidenced in our history.

Evidence show the Indian Caste System was developed in India in the Rajput era (from about the 7th to 12th c AD). The law book of the caste system, Varnashrama Dharma or Manu Dharma was driven by one's skin color, varna, since the Rajputs were relatively light skinned. In reality they were a group of weak fiefdoms, living in isolation from the rest of the world, but, proud of themselves defining themselves as the Aryan (noble) race as outlined in Manu Dharma. The Rajputs subsequently fell victims to the Maratha confederacy, and Manu Dharma was sidelined. The Marathas were then defeated by the British, and the Rajputs accepted British suzerainty leading to an era of collaboration. The Rajputs during this era of collaboration revived Manu Dharma as their law of governance, and convinced the British of a common ancestry! A.A. McDonnell in his book titled 'India's Past' writes, "These two civilizations, starting from a common source, have after a separation of at least 3,000 years again become united".

William Jones, a jurist and linguist, studied Manu Dharma which was being used by the Rajputs to govern under the suzerainty of the British. He then started publishing his translation of Manu Dharma which was in Sanskrit into English in 1794. Through the translation of William Jones, the disingenuous concept of an Aryan race and Racism based on one's skin color entered the world society, catalyzed by the rise of affluence in the Western Nations dominated by Caucasians, and perverted the minds of men like Darwin and Adolf Hitler. This fallacy of the Aryan race was exposed with the discovery of the Indus Valley in 1920, however, much of erroneous world history of the east is yet to be rewritten.

Racism based on one's skin color is a social poison, and we must all strive to bring the world society back to being agnostic to one's skin color. The founding fathers of our nation were very clear that,

- They believed in a Creator, God who,
- Created all of mankind equal, and
- Endowed them with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

This is evidenced in the Declaration of Independence.

When William Jones translated Manu Dharma to English, the racist poison of the Indian Caste system based on one's skin color, spread into the British Empire, catalyzing Charles Darwin, a Britisher, to develop the "science" behind Manu Dharma. Sadly later, Darwin's theory influenced Margaret Sanger, who promoted "eugenics" and "forced sterilization" to eliminate inferior races. Sanger began a "Negro Project" in 1939 to reduce the African-American population. Her racist views are seen in her statement, "The lower down in the scale of human development we go the less sexual control we find. It is said the aboriginal Australian, the lowest known species of the human family, just a step higher than the chimpanzee in brain development."

Darwin's Evolution is Critical Race Theory (CRT) at its best!

The racist roots of Evolution must be exposed since the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism has spawned dangerous social effects – Nazism, Eugenics, Biased Supreme Court Case, Miscegenation Laws, etc., and must also be taught under Social Studies. These have deviated America from the faith of our Founding Fathers as seen in the Declaration of Independence.

Thank you for taking the time to review our product. We are committed to ensuring that we comprehensively cover the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills for grade 8 science. We are rejecting your concerns as scientific errors that need to be corrected.

Grade 8 standards do not address the origin of life. As far as the origin of the universe is concerned, our resources clearly state that any explanations are theoretical, and we do not address proving these theories with scientific facts. You also reference textbooks in this comment, and we are a digital product with no textbooks for students.

As far as your statements from the writings of Charles Darwin (published in 1871), any current coverage of the topic of natural selection is based on genetics. A paper postulating the link between genetics and natural selection was not published until 1916. An understanding of the genetic basis for natural selection cannot be taught from any of Darwin's publications.

You also stated that you think these topics should be taught in social studies instead of science. We cannot address this topic because we are required to cover the science TEKS as written.

Topics such as Jim Crow, Supreme Court decisions, the writings of Voltaire, atheism, racism, a caste system, eugenics, or Critical Race Theory are not part of the Texas Essential Knowledge and Skills for Grade 8 Science, so they are not addressed in our grade 8 science resources.

Again, we appreciate your review of our product and hope we have addressed your concerns.

Texas PhD Science materials do not align well to the TEKS. Multiple lessons are dedicated to topics that are not part of the grade level TEKS. The spotlight lessons seem like they are added in as an attempt to address TEKS that were not covered through the modules. There are TEKS that are inadequately covered in the PhD science modules which will require the classroom teacher to locate and use supplemental resources. This will most likely be an out of pocket expense for the teacher. While Texas PhD Science does encourage hand-on student experiences and critical thinking skills through short answer questions and experiments, it is overly focused on this aspect. It doesn't provide opportunities for students to answer multiple choice questions or short answer questions in a STAAR format. I would not recommend the adoption of Texas PhD Science.

PhD Science Texas Level 4 Texas Program Bundle (Modules 1-3): TEKS

Comment 1

Texas PhD Science materials do not align well to the TEKS. Multiple lessons are dedicated to topics that are not part of the grade level TEKS. The spotlight lessons seem like they are added in as an attempt to address TEKS that were not covered through the modules. There are TEKS that are inadequately covered in the PhD science modules which will require the classroom teacher to locate and use supplemental resources. This will most likely be an out of pocket expense for the teacher. While Texas PhD Science does encourage hand-on student experiences and critical thinking skills through short answer questions and experiments, it is overly focused on this aspect. It doesn't provide opportunities for students to answer multiple choice questions or short answer questions in a STAAR format. I would not recommend the adoption of Texas PhD Science.

The Big Bang Theory

Science is unable to prove the Origin of the Universe, and what is taught is theories with conflicting views. With this science to conclude, The Big Bang model envisions all energy and matter in the universe as having initially been concentrated in an extremely hot, dense singularity much smaller than an atom, or as stated by some, smaller than a proton.

So is the teaching Scientific Facts on the Origin of the Universe, or mere Hypotheses which are the Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism? There is nothing in the textbooks that even hypothesizes how the singularity came into existence! The First Law of Thermodynamics explicitly states that energy cannot be created or destroyed!

The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!

I therefore conclude that what is taught under the guise of science is the Statement of Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism, unless CISD can provide a scientific proof for the “singularity” at essentially infinite density and temperature as taught in our science courses.

All these concepts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. Our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student’s constitutional right! So, I urge CISD to correct this violation by restructuring the teaching of these TEKS by moving the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism to our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

OpenSciEd powered by Kiddom addresses the latest Texas Science TEKS for grades 6-8 via research-based content. All content in this rich curriculum was authored to 100% alignment and in-depth coverage of the TEKS as reviewed through the Texas Proclamation 2024 process.

The content in these materials is organized into recurring strands. The concepts within each grade level build on prior knowledge, prepare students for the next grade level, and establish a foundation for high school courses.

Per the TEKS, these materials incorporate multiple scientific theories to support a thorough understanding of prevailing theories on the origin of the universe.

While the Big Bang theory currently stands as the most widely accepted explanation for the origin of the universe, scientific inquiry remains dynamic. Alternative theories, such as cosmic inflation or cyclic models, are continually evaluated through ongoing data analysis and refined observations. The collective endeavor of scientists to analyze and interpret a spectrum of data ensures that our understanding of the cosmos evolves, allowing theories to be refined, revised, or replaced based on the weight of empirical evidence. In this dynamic pursuit of knowledge, the synthesis of scientific data serves as the cornerstone for constructing and validating theories that illuminate the grand cosmic narrative.

A consortium of world-class curriculum developers completed these materials. They drew from noted experts in the fields of science education, curriculum design, learning sciences, professional learning, and data analysis. They ensured the materials' effectiveness in the classroom. Developers include The BSCS Science Learning Team, The University of Texas at Austin,

The Northwestern University, The Michigan State University, The Horizon Research, Inc., and the Oakland University Team. We thank them for their contributions.

Evolution, the Science of Racism

Darwin published the Descent of Man in 1871, and he placed human origins in Africa, and agreed with Huxley, "that man in all parts of his organization differs less from the higher apes, than these do from the lower members of the same group". Darwin considered every population that is not white and European to be a savage, and "Apes are much given to imitation, as are the lowest savages".

Darwin writes,

With savages, the weak in body or mind are soon eliminated; and those that survive commonly exhibit a vigorous state of health. We civilized men, on the other hand, do our utmost to check the process of elimination; we build asylums for the imbecile, the maimed, and the sick; we institute poor-laws; and our medical men exert their utmost skill to save the life of every one to the last moment. There is reason to believe that vaccination has preserved thousands, who from a weak constitution would formerly have succumbed to small-pox. Thus the weak members of civilized societies propagate their kind. No one who has attended to the breeding of domestic animals will doubt that this must be highly injurious to the race of man. It is surprising how soon a want of care, or care wrongly directed, leads to the degeneration of a domestic race; but excepting in the case of man himself, hardly any one is so ignorant as to allow his worst animals to breed.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 168

Darwin was pleased that society has placed a check on miscegenation. He writes,

Hence we must bear without complaining the undoubtedly bad effects of the weak surviving and propagating their kind; but there appears to be at least one check in steady action, namely the weaker and inferior members of society not marrying so freely as the sound; and this check might be indefinitely increased, though this is more to be hoped for than expected, by the weak in body or mind refraining from marriage.

Remember the Jim Crow miscegenation laws! Darwin then hopes,

At some future period, not very distant as measured by centuries, the civilized races of man will almost certainly exterminate and replace throughout the world the savage races. At the same time the anthropomorphous apes, as Professor Schaaffhausen has remarked, will no doubt be exterminated. The break will then, be rendered wider, for it will intervene between man in a more civilized state, as we may hope, than the Caucasian, and some ape as low as a baboon, instead of as at present between the negro or Australian and the gorilla.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 201

Thus, Evolution is the "Science" of Racism, showing the superiority of the Caucasian race!

In the Supreme Court decision of Dred Scott v Sanford, 1856, Chief Justice Roger B. Taney delivering the opinion of the court stated,

"They had for more than a century before been regarded as beings of an inferior order, and altogether unfit to associate with the white race, either in social or political relations; and so far inferior, that they had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; and that the negro might justly and lawfully be reduced to slavery for his benefit."

It is important to understand that the world was agnostic to one's skin color!

In the 1600s most Europeans lived on farms or small rural communities, and their economy was nothing compared to the affluence of the lands of India and China populated by people of color! Voltaire (1694–1778), a French writer, said,

"I am convinced that everything has come down to us from the banks of the Ganges, astronomy, astrology, metempsychosis, etc. It does not behoove us, who were only savages and barbarians when these Indians and Chinese peoples were civilized and learned, to dispute their antiquity".

So, for a Caucasian, a group of people having European ancestry classified with a light skin pigmentation, to think he/she was superior because of their skin color would be ridiculous! This is why Shakespeare in the early 1600s, wrote Othello where a person of color marries a white woman! Voltaire's statement is affirmed by Angus Madison, a world scholar on quantitative macroeconomic history.

The British landed in India in the early 1600s for the purpose of trade. Seeing the disunity and divisions in the land of India, they deceitfully used the conflicts to destroy opposition and use any means to gain control. The disingenuous nature of the British Empire is well evidenced in our history.

Evidence show the Indian Caste System was developed in India in the Rajput era (from about the 7th to 12th c AD). The law book of the caste system, Varnashrama Dharma or Manu Dharma was driven by one's skin color, varna, since the Rajputs were relatively light skinned. In reality they were a group of weak fiefdoms, living in isolation from the rest of the world, but, proud of themselves defining themselves as the Aryan (noble) race as outlined in Manu Dharma. The Rajputs subsequently fell victims to the Maratha confederacy, and Manu Dharma was sidelined. The Marathas were then defeated by the British, and the Rajputs accepted British suzerainty leading to an era of collaboration. The Rajputs during this era of collaboration revived Manu Dharma as their law of governance, and convinced the British of a common ancestry! A.A. McDonnell in his book titled 'India's Past' writes, "These two civilizations, starting from a common source, have after a separation of at least 3,000 years again become united".

William Jones, a jurist and linguist, studied Manu Dharma which was being used by the Rajputs to govern under the suzerainty of the British. He then started publishing his translation of Manu Dharma which was in Sanskrit into English in 1794. Through the translation of William Jones, the disingenuous concept of an Aryan race and Racism based on one's skin color entered the world society, catalyzed by the rise of affluence in the Western Nations dominated by Caucasians, and perverted the minds of men like Darwin and Adolf Hitler. This fallacy of the Aryan race was exposed with the discovery of the Indus Valley in 1920, however, much of erroneous world history of the east is yet to be rewritten.

Racism based on one's skin color is a social poison, and we must all strive to bring the world society back to being agnostic to one's skin color. The founding fathers of our nation were very clear that,

- They believed in a Creator, God who,
- Created all of mankind equal, and
- Endowed them with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

This is evidenced in the Declaration of Independence.

When William Jones translated Manu Dharma to English, the racist poison of the Indian Caste system based on one's skin color, spread into the British Empire, catalyzing Charles Darwin, a Britisher, to develop the "science" behind Manu Dharma. Sadly later, Darwin's theory influenced Margaret Sanger, who promoted "eugenics" and "forced sterilization" to eliminate inferior races. Sanger began a "Negro Project" in 1939 to reduce the African-American population. Her racist views are seen in her statement,

"The lower down in the scale of human development we go the less sexual control we find. It is said the aboriginal Australian, the lowest known species of the human family, just a step higher than the chimpanzee in brain development."

Darwin's Evolution is Critical Race Theory (CRT) at its best!

The racist roots of Evolution must be exposed since the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism has spawned dangerous social effects – Nazism, Eugenics, Biased Supreme Court Case, Miscegenation Laws, etc., and must also be taught under Social Studies. These have deviated America from the faith of our Founding Fathers as seen in the Declaration of Independence.

OpenStax Biology powered by Kiddlem addresses the latest Texas Science TEKS for high school biology via research-based content. All content in this rich curriculum was authored to 100% alignment and in-depth coverage of the TEKS as reviewed through the Texas Proclamation 2024 process.

These materials focus on patterns, processes, and relationships of living organisms through four main concepts: biological structures, functions, and processes; mechanisms of genetics; biological evolution; and interdependence within environmental systems. Per the TEKS, By the end of 12th grade, students are expected to gain sufficient knowledge of the scientific and engineering practices across the disciplines of science to make informed decisions using critical thinking and scientific problem solving. These materials also offer content that supports analyzing and evaluating how natural selection produces change in populations (not in individuals).

Natural selection, as elucidated by Charles Darwin, operates as a mechanism of evolutionary change that acts upon populations rather than individuals. Individuals within a population exhibit variation in their traits due to genetic diversity. The focus on populations rather than isolated individuals is crucial in understanding the dynamics of evolutionary change. Natural selection operates on the statistical likelihood of certain traits contributing to reproductive success across a group, providing a framework for the gradual adaptation of populations to their environments.

Darwin's contributions centered on the understanding of biodiversity, adaptation, and the interconnectedness of life through empirical observations and rigorous scientific inquiry.

A consortium of world-class curriculum developers completed these materials. They drew from noted experts in the fields of science education, curriculum design, learning sciences, professional learning, and data analysis. They ensured the materials' effectiveness in the classroom. Origin of Life

The "origin of life" (OOL) is best described as the chemical and physical processes that brought into existence the first self-replicating molecule. OOL theories must create the first life using only the laws of chemistry and physics, and cannot rely upon natural selection. Natural Selection is the process through which populations of living organisms adapt and change and is not applicable since there is no reproduction before the first life. Any hypothesis on the Origin of Life first requires a Universe.

Science is unable to prove the Origin of the Universe, and what is taught is theories with conflicting views. With this science to conclude,

The Big Bang model envisions all energy and matter in the universe as having initially been concentrated in an extremely hot, dense singularity much smaller than an atom, or as stated by some, smaller than a proton.

So is the teaching Scientific Facts on the Origin of the Universe, or mere Hypotheses which are the Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism? I therefore conclude that what is taught under the guise of science is the Statement of Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism, unless one can provide a scientific proof for the “singularity” at essentially infinite density and temperature as taught in our science courses.

All these concepts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. Our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student’s constitutional right! So, correct this violation by restructuring the teaching of these TEKS by moving the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism to our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

Origin of Life

The "origin of life" (OOL) is best described as the chemical and physical processes that brought into existence the first self-replicating molecule. OOL theories must create the first life using only the laws of chemistry and physics, and cannot rely upon natural selection. Natural Selection is the process through which populations of living organisms adapt and change and is not applicable since there is no reproduction before the first life. Any hypothesis on the Origin of Life first requires a Universe.

Science is unable to prove the Origin of the Universe, and what is taught is theories with conflicting views. With this science to conclude,

The Big Bang model envisions all energy and matter in the universe as having initially been concentrated in an extremely hot, dense singularity much smaller than an atom, or as stated by some, smaller than a proton.

So is the teaching Scientific Facts on the Origin of the Universe, or mere Hypotheses which are the Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism? There is nothing in the textbooks that even hypothesizes how the singularity came into existence! The First Law of Thermodynamics explicitly states that energy cannot be created or destroyed!

The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!

I therefore conclude that what is taught under the guise of science is the Statement of Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism, unless one can provide a scientific proof for the "singularity" at essentially infinite density and temperature as taught in our science courses.

All these concepts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. Our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student's constitutional right! So, correct this violation by restructuring the teaching of these TEKS by moving the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism to our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

Evolution, the Science of Racism

Darwin published the Descent of Man in 1871, and he placed human origins in Africa, and agreed with Huxley, "that man in all parts of his organization differs less from the higher apes, than these do from the lower members of the same group". Darwin considered every population that is not white and European to be a savage, and "Apes are much given to imitation, as are the lowest savages".

Darwin writes,

With savages, the weak in body or mind are soon eliminated; and those that survive commonly exhibit a vigorous state of health. We civilized men, on the other hand, do our utmost to check the process of elimination; we build asylums for the imbecile, the maimed, and the sick; we institute poor-laws; and our medical men exert their utmost skill to save the life of every one to the last moment. There is reason to believe that vaccination has preserved thousands, who from a weak constitution would formerly have succumbed to small-pox. Thus the weak members of civilized societies propagate their kind. No one who has attended to the breeding of domestic animals will doubt that this must be highly injurious to the race of man. It is surprising how soon a want of care, or care wrongly directed, leads to the degeneration of a domestic race; but excepting in the case of man himself, hardly any one is so ignorant as to allow his worst animals to breed.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 168

Darwin was pleased that society has placed a check on miscegenation. He writes,

Proclamation 2024: Public Comments (11/07/2023)

Hence we must bear without complaining the undoubtedly bad effects of the weak surviving and propagating their kind; but there appears to be at least one check in steady action, namely the weaker and inferior members of society not marrying so freely as the sound; and this check might be indefinitely increased, though this is more to be hoped for than expected, by the weak in body or mind refraining from marriage.

Remember the Jim Crow miscegenation laws! Darwin then hopes,

At some future period, not very distant as measured by centuries, the civilized races of man will almost certainly exterminate and replace throughout the world the savage races. At the same time the anthropomorphous apes, as Professor Schaaffhausen has remarked, will no doubt be exterminated. The break will then, be rendered wider, for it will intervene between man in a more civilized state, as we may hope, than the Caucasian, and some ape as low as a baboon, instead of as at present between the negro or Australian and the gorilla.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 201

Thus, Evolution is the "Science" of Racism, showing the superiority of the Caucasian race!

In the Supreme Court decision of Dred Scott v Sanford, 1856, Chief Justice Roger B. Taney delivering the opinion of the court stated,

"They had for more than a century before been regarded as beings of an inferior order, and altogether unfit to associate with the white race, either in social or political relations; and so far inferior, that they had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; and that the negro might justly and lawfully be reduced to slavery for his benefit."

It is important to understand that the world was agnostic to one's skin color!

In the 1600s most Europeans lived on farms or small rural communities, and their economy was nothing compared to the affluence of the lands of India and China populated by people of color! Voltaire (1694–1778), a French writer, said,

"I am convinced that everything has come down to us from the banks of the Ganges, astronomy, astrology, metempsychosis, etc. It does not behoove us, who were only savages and barbarians when these Indians and Chinese peoples were civilized and learned, to dispute their antiquity".

So, for a Caucasian, a group of people having European ancestry classified with a light skin pigmentation, to think he/she was superior because of their skin color would be ridiculous! This is why Shakespeare in the early 1600s, wrote Othello where a person of color marries a white woman! Voltaire's statement is affirmed by Angus Madison, a world scholar on quantitative macroeconomic history.

The British landed in India in the early 1600s for the purpose of trade. Seeing the disunity and divisions in the land of India, they deceitfully used the conflicts to destroy opposition and use any means to gain control. The disingenuous nature of the British Empire is well evidenced in our history.

Evidence show the Indian Caste System was developed in India in the Rajput era (from about the 7th to 12th c AD). The law book of the caste system, Varnashrama Dharma or Manu Dharma was driven by one's skin color, varna, since the Rajputs were relatively light skinned. In reality they were a group of weak fiefdoms, living in isolation from the rest of the world, but, proud of themselves defining themselves as the Aryan (noble) race as outlined in Manu Dharma. The Rajputs subsequently fell victims to the Maratha confederacy, and Manu Dharma was sidelined. The Marathas were then defeated by the British, and the Rajputs accepted British suzerainty leading to an era of collaboration. The Rajputs during this era of collaboration revived Manu Dharma as their law of governance, and convinced the British of a common ancestry! A.A. McDonnell in his book titled 'India's Past' writes, "These two civilizations, starting from a common source, have after a separation of at least 3,000 years again become united".

William Jones, a jurist and linguist, studied Manu Dharma which was being used by the Rajputs to govern under the suzerainty of the British. He then started publishing his translation of Manu Dharma which was in Sanskrit into English in 1794. Through the translation of William Jones, the disingenuous concept of an Aryan race and Racism based on one's skin color entered the world society, catalyzed by the rise of affluence in the Western Nations dominated by Caucasians, and perverted the minds of men like Darwin and Adolf Hitler. This fallacy of the Aryan race was exposed with the discovery of the Indus Valley in 1920, however, much of erroneous world history of the east is yet to be rewritten.

Racism based on one's skin color is a social poison, and we must all strive to bring the world society back to being agnostic to one's skin color. The founding fathers of our nation were very clear that,

- They believed in a Creator, God who,
- Created all of mankind equal, and
- Endowed them with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

This is evidenced in the Declaration of Independence.

When William Jones translated Manu Dharma to English, the racist poison of the Indian Caste system based on one's skin color, spread into the British Empire, catalyzing Charles Darwin, a Britisher, to develop the "science" behind Manu Dharma. Sadly later, Darwin's theory influenced Margaret Sanger, who promoted "eugenics" and "forced sterilization" to eliminate inferior races. Sanger began a "Negro Project" in 1939 to reduce the African-American population. Her racist views are seen in her statement,

"The lower down in the scale of human development we go the less sexual control we find. It is said the aboriginal Australian, the lowest known species of the human family, just a step higher than the chimpanzee in brain development."

Darwin's Evolution is Critical Race Theory (CRT) at its best!

The racist roots of Evolution must be exposed since the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism has spawned dangerous social effects – Nazism, Eugenics, Biased Supreme Court Case, Miscegenation Laws, etc., and must also be taught under Social Studies. These have deviated America from the faith of our Founding Fathers as seen in the Declaration of Independence.

Yes, and we appreciate your perspective on this complex subject. We understand there are diverse viewpoints on the origins of the universe. As it currently stands, the Big Bang Theory is included in the 8th-grade science TEKS as an educational standard set by the State Board of Education. It is our responsibility to teach the curriculum as prescribed. Should the SBOE adjust these standards in the future, we will promptly reflect those changes in our teaching materials and practices. Thank you for expressing your concerns; we value the input of our community members.

Origin of Life

The "origin of life" (OOL) is best described as the chemical and physical processes that brought into existence the first self-replicating molecule. OOL theories must create the first life using only the laws of chemistry and physics, and cannot rely upon natural selection. Natural Selection is the process through which populations of living organisms adapt and change and is not applicable since there is no reproduction before the first life. Any hypothesis on the Origin of Life first requires a Universe.

Science is unable to prove the Origin of the Universe, and what is taught is theories with conflicting views. With this science to conclude, The Big Bang model envisions all energy and matter in the universe as having initially been concentrated in an extremely hot, dense singularity much smaller than an atom, or as stated by some, smaller than a proton.

So is the teaching Scientific Facts on the Origin of the Universe, or mere Hypotheses which are the Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism? There is nothing in the textbooks that even hypothesizes how the singularity came into existence! The First Law of Thermodynamics explicitly states that energy cannot be created or destroyed!

The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!

I therefore conclude that what is taught under the guise of science is the Statement of Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism, unless one can provide a scientific proof for the "singularity" at essentially infinite density and temperature as taught in our science courses.

All these concepts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. Our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student's constitutional right! So, correct this violation by restructuring the teaching of these TEKS by moving the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism to our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

Evolution, the Science of Racism

Darwin published the Descent of Man in 1871, and he placed human origins in Africa, and agreed with Huxley, "that man in all parts of his organization differs less from the higher apes, than these do from the lower members of the same group". Darwin considered every population that is not white and European to be a savage, and "Apes are much given to imitation, as are the lowest savages".

Darwin writes,

With savages, the weak in body or mind are soon eliminated; and those that survive commonly exhibit a vigorous state of health. We civilized men, on the other hand, do our utmost to check the process of elimination; we build asylums for the imbecile, the maimed, and the sick; we institute poor-laws; and our medical men exert their utmost skill to save the life of every one to the last moment. There is reason to believe that vaccination has preserved thousands, who from a weak constitution would formerly have succumbed to small-pox. Thus the weak members of civilized societies propagate their kind. No one who has attended to the breeding of domestic animals will doubt that this must be highly injurious to the race of man. It is surprising how soon a want of care, or care wrongly directed, leads to the degeneration of a domestic race; but excepting in the case of man himself, hardly any one is so ignorant as to allow his worst animals to breed.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 168

Darwin was pleased that society has placed a check on miscegenation. He writes,

Hence we must bear without complaining the undoubtedly bad effects of the weak surviving and propagating their kind; but there appears to be at least one check in steady action, namely the weaker and inferior members of society not marrying so freely as the sound; and this check might be indefinitely increased, though this is more to be hoped for than expected, by the weak in body or mind refraining from marriage.

Remember the Jim Crow miscegenation laws! Darwin then hopes,

At some future period, not very distant as measured by centuries, the civilized races of man will almost certainly exterminate and replace throughout the world the savage races. At the same time the anthropomorphous apes, as Professor Schaaffhausen has remarked, will no doubt be exterminated. The break will then, be rendered wider, for it will intervene between man in a more civilized state, as we may hope, than the Caucasian, and some ape as low as a baboon, instead of as at present between the negro or Australian and the gorilla.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 201

Thus, Evolution is the "Science" of Racism, showing the superiority of the Caucasian race!

In the Supreme Court decision of Dred Scott v Sanford, 1856, Chief Justice Roger B. Taney delivering the opinion of the court stated,

"They had for more than a century before been regarded as beings of an inferior order, and altogether unfit to associate with the white race, either in social or political relations; and so far inferior, that they had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; and that the negro might justly and lawfully be reduced to slavery for his benefit."

It is important to understand that the world was agnostic to one's skin color!

In the 1600s most Europeans lived on farms or small rural communities, and their economy was nothing compared to the affluence of the lands of India and China populated by people of color! Voltaire (1694–1778), a French writer, said,

"I am convinced that everything has come down to us from the banks of the Ganges, astronomy, astrology, metempsychosis, etc. It does not behoove us, who were only savages and barbarians when these Indians and Chinese peoples were civilized and learned, to dispute their antiquity".

So, for a Caucasian, a group of people having European ancestry classified with a light skin pigmentation, to think he/she was superior because of their skin color would be ridiculous! This is why Shakespeare in the early 1600s, wrote Othello where a person of color marries a white woman! Voltaire's statement is affirmed by Angus Madison, a world scholar on quantitative macroeconomic history.

The British landed in India in the early 1600s for the purpose of trade. Seeing the disunity and divisions in the land of India, they deceitfully used the conflicts to destroy opposition and use any means to gain control. The disingenuous nature of the British Empire is well evidenced in our history.

Evidence show the Indian Caste System was developed in India in the Rajput era (from about the 7th to 12th c AD). The law book of the caste system, Varnashrama Dharma or Manu Dharma was driven by one's skin color, varna, since the Rajputs were relatively light skinned. In reality they were a group of weak fiefdoms, living in isolation from the rest of the world, but, proud of themselves defining themselves as the Aryan (noble) race as outlined in Manu Dharma. The Rajputs subsequently fell victims to the Maratha confederacy, and Manu Dharma was sidelined. The Marathas were then defeated by the British, and the Rajputs accepted British suzerainty leading to an era of collaboration. The Rajputs during this era of collaboration revived Manu Dharma as their law of governance, and convinced the British of a common ancestry! A.A. McDonnell in his book titled 'India's Past' writes, "These two civilizations, starting from a common source, have after a separation of at least 3,000 years again become united".

William Jones, a jurist and linguist, studied Manu Dharma which was being used by the Rajputs to govern under the suzerainty of the British. He then started publishing his translation of Manu Dharma which was in Sanskrit into English in 1794. Through the translation of William Jones, the disingenuous concept of an Aryan race and Racism based on one's skin color entered the world society, catalyzed by the rise of affluence in the Western Nations dominated by Caucasians, and perverted the minds of men like Darwin and Adolf Hitler. This fallacy of the Aryan race was exposed with the discovery of the Indus Valley in 1920, however, much of erroneous world history of the east is yet to be rewritten.

Proclamation 2024: Public Comments (11/07/2023)

Racism based on one's skin color is a social poison, and we must all strive to bring the world society back to being agnostic to one's skin color. The founding fathers of our nation were very clear that,

- They believed in a Creator, God who,
- Created all of mankind equal, and
- Endowed them with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

This is evidenced in the Declaration of Independence.

When William Jones translated Manu Dharma to English, the racist poison of the Indian Caste system based on one's skin color, spread into the British Empire, catalyzing Charles Darwin, a Britisher, to develop the "science" behind Manu Dharma. Sadly later, Darwin's theory influenced Margaret Sanger, who promoted "eugenics" and "forced sterilization" to eliminate inferior races. Sanger began a "Negro Project" in 1939 to reduce the African-American population. Her racist views are seen in her statement, "The lower down in the scale of human development we go the less sexual control we find. It is said the aboriginal Australian, the lowest known species of the human family, just a step higher than the chimpanzee in brain development."

Darwin's Evolution is Critical Race Theory (CRT) at its best!

The racist roots of Evolution must be exposed since the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism has spawned dangerous social effects – Nazism, Eugenics, Biased Supreme Court Case, Miscegenation Laws, etc., and must also be taught under Social Studies. These have deviated America from the faith of our Founding Fathers as seen in the Declaration of Independence.

Thank you for your comment. Since it's quite extensive, we will address it in sections:

Origin of life:

Natural selection occurs not only in populations of individuals, but also at the molecular and macromolecular levels. This is especially relevant for self-replicating ribozymes 4 billion years ago. As a simple example, a "population" of one type of ribozyme that self-replicates faster will outcompete another "population" that self-replicates slower, all else being equal.

The input of energy from the sun (and from the core of the Earth via hydrothermal vents) was the driving force for the origin of life and continues to power all life today. With an input of energy acting on small molecules (nucleotides, amino acids, etc, all of which can form naturally based on physics and chemistry), macromolecules can be formed, then liposomes, protocells, etc.

Where does the sun's (and Earth's core's) energy come from, or how did it originate? The big bang provides a good answer to this, but this is really beyond the scope of what we're teaching in a biology textbook. Our starting point for evolution in this biology textbook is the sun and the Earth, so we will not address your comments/questions on the big bang theory or origin of the universe.

Religion of atheism:

The contents of this book (biology) teach students the physical makeup of cells and molecules, based on empirical data published in the public literature, as well as how they function. We say nothing about religion, atheism, spiritualism, faith, or anything of the sort, as that is one's personal beliefs, and has nothing to do with the contents of this book.

Evolution, Darwin, and the science of racism:

What Charles Darwin may or may not have said is irrelevant to this book. Our unit on evolution teaches students evolutionary concepts based on empirical, publicly available scientific data.

The ""origin of life"" (OOL) is best described as the chemical and physical processes that brought into existence the first self-replicating molecule. OOL theories must create the first life using only the laws of chemistry and physics, and cannot rely upon natural selection. Natural Selection is the process through which populations of living organisms adapt and change and is not applicable since there is no reproduction before the first life. Any hypothesis on the Origin of Life first requires a Universe.

Science is unable to prove the Origin of the Universe, and what is taught is theories with conflicting views. With this science to conclude,

The Big Bang model envisions all energy and matter in the universe as having initially been concentrated in an extremely hot, dense singularity much smaller than an atom, or as stated by some, smaller than a proton.

So is the teaching Scientific Facts on the Origin of the Universe, or mere Hypotheses which are the Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism? There is nothing in the textbooks that even hypothesizes how the singularity came into existence! The First Law of Thermodynamics explicitly states that energy cannot be created or destroyed!

The Big Bang Theory is the heart of the Religion of Atheism, since without its singularity of infinite energy, there is no universe, and with no universe, there is no origin of life, the first self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, and with no self-sustaining, self-replicating cell, there is no Evolution, the Science of Racism, a Critical Race Theory (CRT) par excellence!

I therefore conclude that what is taught under the guise of science is the Statement of Faith and Beliefs of the Religion of Atheism, unless one can provide a scientific proof for the "singularity" at essentially infinite density and temperature as taught in our science courses.

All these concepts must be structured and taught under Major World religions in a Social Studies class. Our current TEKS and subsequent curriculum materials are promoting the religion of Atheism in our science classrooms, while suppressing the religion of Creationism. This is a grievous violation of a student's constitutional right! So, correct this violation by restructuring the teaching of these TEKS by moving the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism to our Social Studies course under the study of the World Religions. Evolution by Natural Selection, which is the science of racism, should also be included since it is part of the religion of Atheism.

Evolution, the Science of Racism

Darwin published the Descent of Man in 1871, and he placed human origins in Africa, and agreed with Huxley, "that man in all parts of his organization differs less from the higher apes, than these do from the lower members of the same group". Darwin considered every population that is not white and European to be a savage, and "Apes are much given to imitation, as are the lowest savages".

Darwin writes,

With savages, the weak in body or mind are soon eliminated; and those that survive commonly exhibit a vigorous state of health. We civilized men, on the other hand, do our utmost to check the process of elimination; we build asylums for the imbecile, the maimed, and the sick; we institute poor-laws; and our medical men exert their utmost skill to save the life of every one to the last moment. There is reason to believe that vaccination has preserved thousands, who from a weak constitution would formerly have succumbed to small-pox. Thus the weak members of civilized societies propagate their kind. No one who has attended to the breeding of domestic animals will doubt that this must be highly injurious to the race of man. It is surprising how soon a want of care, or care wrongly directed, leads to the degeneration of a domestic race; but excepting in the case of man himself, hardly any one is so ignorant as to allow his worst animals to breed.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 168

Darwin was pleased that society has placed a check on miscegenation. He writes,

Hence we must bear without complaining the undoubtedly bad effects of the weak surviving and propagating their kind; but there appears to be at least one check in steady action, namely the weaker and inferior members of society not marrying so freely as the sound; and this check might be indefinitely increased, though this is more to be hoped for than expected, by the weak in body or mind refraining from marriage.

Remember the Jim Crow miscegenation laws! Darwin then hopes,

At some future period, not very distant as measured by centuries, the civilized races of man will almost certainly exterminate and replace throughout the world the savage races. At the same time the anthropomorphous apes, as Professor Schaaffhausen has remarked, will no doubt be exterminated. The break will then, be rendered wider, for it will intervene between man in a more civilized state, as we may hope, than the Caucasian, and some ape as low as a baboon, instead of as at present between the negro or Australian and the gorilla.

THE DESCENT OF MAN AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX by Charles Darwin, pg 201

Thus, Evolution is the "Science" of Racism, showing the superiority of the Caucasian race!

In the Supreme Court decision of Dred Scott v Sanford, 1856, Chief Justice Roger B. Taney delivering the opinion of the court stated,

"They had for more than a century before been regarded as beings of an inferior order, and altogether unfit to associate with the white race, either in social or political relations; and so far inferior, that they had no rights which the white man was bound to respect; and that the negro might justly and lawfully be reduced to slavery for his benefit."

It is important to understand that the world was agnostic to one's skin color!

In the 1600s most Europeans lived on farms or small rural communities, and their economy was nothing compared to the affluence of the lands of India and China populated by people of color! Voltaire (1694–1778), a French writer, said,

"I am convinced that everything has come down to us from the banks of the Ganges, astronomy, astrology, metempsychosis, etc. It does not behoove us, who were only savages and barbarians when these Indians and Chinese peoples were civilized and learned, to dispute their antiquity".

So, for a Caucasian, a group of people having European ancestry classified with a light skin pigmentation, to think he/she was superior because of their skin color would be ridiculous! This is why Shakespeare in the early 1600s, wrote Othello where a person of color marries a white woman! Voltaire's statement is affirmed by Angus Madison, a world scholar on quantitative macroeconomic history.

The British landed in India in the early 1600s for the purpose of trade. Seeing the disunity and divisions in the land of India, they deceitfully used the conflicts to destroy opposition and use any means to gain control. The disingenuous nature of the British Empire is well evidenced in our history.

Evidence show the Indian Caste System was developed in India in the Rajput era (from about the 7th to 12th c AD). The law book of the caste system, Varnashrama Dharma or Manu Dharma was driven by one's skin color, varna, since the Rajputs were relatively light skinned. In reality they were a group of weak fiefdoms, living in isolation from the rest of the world, but, proud of themselves defining themselves as the Aryan (noble) race as outlined in Manu Dharma. The Rajputs subsequently fell victims to the Maratha confederacy, and Manu Dharma was sidelined. The Marathas were then defeated by the British, and the Rajputs accepted British suzerainty leading to an era of collaboration. The Rajputs during this era of collaboration revived Manu Dharma as their law of governance, and convinced the British of a common ancestry! A.A. McDonnell in his book titled 'India's Past' writes, "These two civilizations, starting from a common source, have after a separation of at least 3,000 years again become united".

William Jones, a jurist and linguist, studied Manu Dharma which was being used by the Rajputs to govern under the suzerainty of the British. He then started publishing his translation of Manu Dharma which was in Sanskrit into English in 1794. Through the translation of William Jones, the disingenuous concept of an Aryan race and Racism based on one's skin color entered the world society, catalyzed by the rise of affluence in the Western Nations dominated by Caucasians, and perverted the minds of men like Darwin and Adolf Hitler. This fallacy of the Aryan race was exposed with the discovery of the Indus Valley in 1920, however, much of erroneous world history of the east is yet to be rewritten.

Racism based on one's skin color is a social poison, and we must all strive to bring the world society back to being agnostic to one's skin color. The founding fathers of our nation were very clear that,

- They believed in a Creator, God who,
- Created all of mankind equal, and
- Endowed them with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness.

This is evidenced in the Declaration of Independence.

When William Jones translated Manu Dharma to English, the racist poison of the Indian Caste system based on one's skin color, spread into the British Empire, catalyzing Charles Darwin, a Britisher, to develop the "science" behind Manu Dharma. Sadly later, Darwin's theory influenced Margaret Sanger, who promoted "eugenics" and "forced sterilization" to eliminate inferior races. Sanger began a "Negro Project" in 1939 to reduce the African-American population. Her racist views are seen in her statement, "The lower down in the scale of human development we go the less sexual control we find. It is said the aboriginal Australian, the lowest known species of the human family, just a step higher than the chimpanzee in brain development."

Darwin's Evolution is Critical Race Theory (CRT) at its best!

The racist roots of Evolution must be exposed since the faith and beliefs of the religion of Atheism has spawned dangerous social effects – Nazism, Eugenics, Biased Supreme Court Case, Miscegenation Laws, etc., and must also be taught under Social Studies. These have deviated America from the faith of our Founding Fathers as seen in the Declaration of Independence.

- The text is explicitly written in accordance with Board of Education’s State requirements – TEKS 10 - The student knows evolutionary theory is a scientific explanation for the unity and diversity of life that has multiple mechanisms. The State Board fully accepts the text.
- There is no mention nor attempt to explain the origins of the universe, or life in the text, and nor should there be. It is not within the remit of this course, or the TEKS to discuss either of these things – then origin of the universe would not even be described as biology.
